Eola Amity Hills Chardonnay

Description:

A precise, cool-climate Chardonnay from Evening Land's Seven Springs Vineyard in Oregon's Eola-Amity Hills. The fruit comes from the estate's east-facing slopes, where cool Pacific influences help retain plenty of natural acidity while allowing the grapes to ripen fully. It has a lovely balance of ripe citrus and orchard fruit with a more savoury, mineral character underneath. Fermentation in older French oak and 11 months on the lees give the wine texture and subtle richness without turning it into a heavily oaked Chardonnay.

Tasting notes:

Lemon, green apple, white peach, pear, citrus peel, subtle toast, mineral finish

Allergens:

Contains sulphites.

Dish Pairing:

- Roast chicken with lemon and herbs
- Grilled halibut or turbot
- Scallops with brown butter
- Roast cauliflower with hazelnuts

Talking Point:

Seven Springs Vineyard was first planted in 1984 and sits on the eastern slopes of the Eola-Amity Hills, an area particularly well suited to Chardonnay and Pinot Noir. Evening Land farms the vineyard biodynamically, and the cool air flowing through the Van Duzer Corridor from the Pacific helps preserve acidity.
