

Godessa Agiorgitiko

Description:

Godessa Agiorgitiko is a smooth, fruit-forward Greek red made from one of the country's most important native grape varieties. Deep ruby in colour, it offers ripe red berry and plum fruit layered with hints of sweet spice and soft herbs. The palate is rounded and approachable, with gentle tannins and balanced acidity giving the wine an easy-drinking yet characterful style.

Tasting notes:

Red Cherry, Plum, Raspberry, Sweet Spice, Dried Herbs

Allergens:

Contains sulphites.

Dish Pairing:

- Lamb souvlaki
- Moussaka
- Grilled pork skewers
- Semi-hard cheeses

Talking Point:

Agiorgitiko takes its name from the town of Agios Georgios in Nemea, the region most closely associated with the grape in the Peloponnese. Often referred to as the "Blood of Hercules" due to local mythology linking Nemea to the hero's first labour, the grape is prized for producing reds that combine soft texture with vibrant fruit, making it one of Greece's most versatile native varieties.
